- Gating criteria
- Recovery
State of readiness
Maintaining a State of Readiness

1. Priority: Spend efficiently to affect relevant factors to travel during state of readiness and prepare for a robust recovery effort.
   Objective: Prepare for a robust recovery with as many resources as possible.
   Measure: Resources allocated to recovery campaign.

2. Priority: Maintain a state of readiness.
   Objective: Recovery campaign ready to go, including partner opportunities.
   Measures: Ready launch plan and assets by beginning of FY2021.

   Objective: Maintain travel trade presence in key source markets to keep the USA top of mind via training, webinars, and B2B engagements (e.g. new virtual global marketplace).
   Measures: Number of travel trade engagements and number of partners engaged.

4. Priority: Keep the drumbeat of inspiration alive.
   Objective: Deploy inspirational consumer messaging through organic digital and social channels, GoUSA TV, and earned media.
   Measures: Engagement (comments, likes, share), video views, and impressions.
Maintaining a State of Readiness

Priority: Help the industry maintain a state of readiness.
Objective: Provide Brand USA partners and the U.S. travel and tourism industry with market intelligence and a global infrastructure to maintain a presence in the international marketplace.
Measures: Participation in research webinars and small roundtable groups; participation in Brand USA travel trade programs; partners returning to market when conditions are right.

Priority: Maintain a pulse on market and industry conditions.
Objective: Track market and industry conditions to monitor gating criteria, provide value to the industry, and inform marketing messaging.
Measures: Consumer sentiment; consumer behavioral indicators; market, travel trade, and media reports from international offices.

Priority: Communicate entry policy and opening status.
Objective: Maintain and disseminate a central repository of up-to-date entry policy and procedure information as well as critical state-, city-, and company-level opening information and health protocols.
Measures: Information is regularly maintained and included in proactive trade engagement and external communication to stakeholders.
Working Two Challenges

• Our partners have left the international marketing space to focus on local recovery. We will develop a re-entry vehicle for our return which is:

  • Dynamic - scalable and global
  • Disruptive - an innovative solution which will replace inefficient, inertia driven methods
  • Efficient – lowering barriers to participate and requiring minimal resources

• Create a virtual version of Travel Week for 2020 and beyond

  • Even when we return to face-to-face meetings, virtual will remain a part of that experience

Recovery
Recovery

Priority: Drive international arrivals, spending, and revenue for travel suppliers, as well as state and local DMOs in the United States.
Objective: Generate measurable bookings through an inspirational campaign that integrates selected tour operators, airlines, and OTAs through calls-to-action and use of Brand USA itinerary programs and other tools.
Measures: Attributable bookings; participation and engagement by tour operators, OTAs, airlines.

Priority: Deploy an effective and efficient campaign.
Objective: Make the USA the easy and obvious choice as a travel destination.
Measures: Engagements, video views, CPM; campaign-led bookings.

Priority: Represent the entirety of the United States, including rural and urban areas.
Objective: Include as many states, cities, regions, and territories as possible in the creative for the recovery campaign, ensuring a balance of rural and urban destinations.
Measures: Number of city and states included, and rural/urban ratio of included destinations.

Priority: Use recovery platform for cooperative marketing.
Objective: Implement cooperative marketing opportunities in conjunction with the campaign with focus on activation.
Measures: Number of partners participating; percentage of returning partners YOY; attributable bookings.
Over the past few weeks, we’ve been immersing ourselves in the plethora of secondary research available to the industry in the form of reports, data, webinars, seminars, predictions, and forecasts.

The learnings and insights we’ve gathered served as key inputs to our brand and communications strategy in the following sections.

Here’s what we’ve found so far.
1. Re-evaluating “Normal”

It’s important that we are optimistic in tone and play into our aspirational DNA that the U.S. is more than just a destination, it’s an idea that we can tap into to emotionally to connect with consumers.

2. Optimism for Future Travel

Travel willingness will recover, and when it does, it’s crucial that we’re in market with an ownable rallying cry that resonates just as well with partners as consumers.

3. Safety Will Be Non-Negotiable

Clearly communicate the U.S. is safe for international travelers and we are ready to welcome them with the appropriate protocols and procedures.

4. Freedom to Fully Experience

Make sure information about our destinations and the many experiences available to tourists comes through in our messaging.

5. The Great Outdoors

Lean into the abundance of open roads, vast lands, sprawling national parks, and off-the-beaten path destinations that are uniquely ownable to the U.S.

6. The Road Trip

The U.S. is home to the road trip, a uniquely American strength that we should prioritize via our recovery campaign.
Driving intent to Visit the USA and increasing engagement with/within Brand USA all working toward a single goal:

Leading the recovery of the U.S. travel and tourism Industry.

The strategy you’ll see today will show how we’ll accomplish this goal.

Lead the international recovery of the U.S. travel and tourism industry

Increase engagement with USA content

Drive intent & bookings to visit the USA
Brand Strategy
HUMAN INSIGHT

Our lives have been interrupted and put on hold, giving us unprecedented time to reflect and re-prioritize our values.
The U.S. is an aspirational destination that truly reflects the spirit of reinvention.
