

WEEKLY CORONAVIRUS IMPACT ON TRAVEL EXPENDITURES IN THE U.S.

(APRIL 22, 2020 UPDATE)

NATIONAL FINDINGS

Travel spending in the U.S. further deteriorated the week ending April 18th, marking seven consecutive weeks of contraction.

National weekly travel spending fell slightly, registering $2.5 billion. With several states announcing plans to begin loosening lockdown measures, it is possible that this marks the trough of this turbulent period.

In the week ending April 18th the travel economy registered 89% below last year's levels, recording a slight further decline compared to the previous week.

Travel spending remains at depressed levels, tallying a $19.4 billion loss the week ending April 18th when compared to the same week a year ago.

Since the beginning of March, the COVID-19 pandemic has resulted in $99 billion in losses for the U.S. travel economy.

REGIONAL FINDINGS

Travel spending losses for the week ending April 18th reached $3.7 billion in the Northeast, $2.9 billion in the Midwest, $7.0 billion in the South, and $5.9 billion in the West.

Over the past seven weeks, cumulative losses have tallied $19.4 billion for the Northeast, $14.6 billion for the Midwest, $34.9 billion for the South, and $30.4 billion for the West.

The West and Northeast have experienced similar losses, each registering an 89% decline. The Midwest saw the smallest decline from the previous week having gone from 84% below its previous year's level to 85%.

REGIONAL FINDINGS (CONTINUED)

States that are less reliant on international and long-haul travel, as well as those without large urban centers saw more substantial improvements this week on average. Alaska, Arkansas, and Mississippi are the only states to suffer a decline of less than 80% last week.

Rhode Island, Hawaii, West Virginia, and the District of Columbia endured declines of more than 95% in the week ending April 18th.

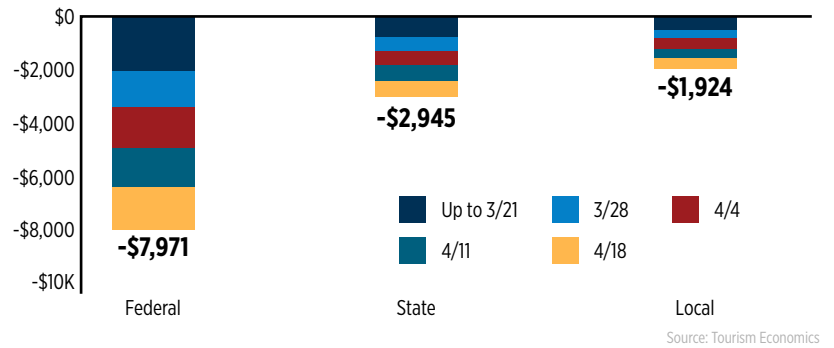

These substantial losses in travel spending have caused a loss of $12.8 billion in federal, state, and local tax revenue since March 1st.

This includes $8.0 billion in federal taxes, $2.9 billion in state taxes, and $1.9 billion in local tax revenue.

About the U.S. Travel Association

The U.S. Travel Association is the national, non-profit organization representing all components of the travel industry that generates $2.6 trillion in economic output. It is the voice for the collective interests of the U.S. travel industry and the association's 1,350 member organizations. U.S. Travel's mission is to promote and facilitate increased travel to and within the United States. For more information, visit www.ustravel.org.

About Tourism Economics

Tourism Economics is an Oxford Economics company with a singular objective: combine an understanding of the travel sector with proven economic tools to answer the most important questions facing our clients. More than 500 companies, associations, and destination work with Tourism Economics every year as a research partner. We bring decades of experience to every engagement to help our clients make better marketing, investment, and policy decisions.

The U.S. Travel Association and Tourism Economics wish to thank the following organizations for their significant contributions:

Airline Data Inc has been considered the Gold Standard for supplying quality U.S. commercial airline data for over 30 years. Our online tool, The Hub, delivers detailed airline schedules, leakage, and full passenger itinerary data on one platform – all at cost-effective rates. Clients agree that our proprietary reconciliation process instills a high level of confidence in understanding market dynamics that are not found in data provided by other vendors.

STR provides premium data benchmarking, analytics and marketplace insights for global hospitality sectors. We deliver data that is confidential, accurate and actionable, and our comprehensive solutions empower our clients to strategize and compete within their markets.
